Portfolio

INDOPRO, which stands for “Indonesia Produksi”, is a rental company that provides technical equipment for the entertainment industry.

The company was established in 1997 through the personal efforts of “Jimmy Turangan” after gaining experience in the same industry.

We have a long history in the entertainment industry, and with over a quarter of a century of experience, we can certainly deliver the best for our clients.

We take every project that is given to us, even from a scribble of an idea and build it in order to provide the best experience for our clients as well as the audience.

About Us

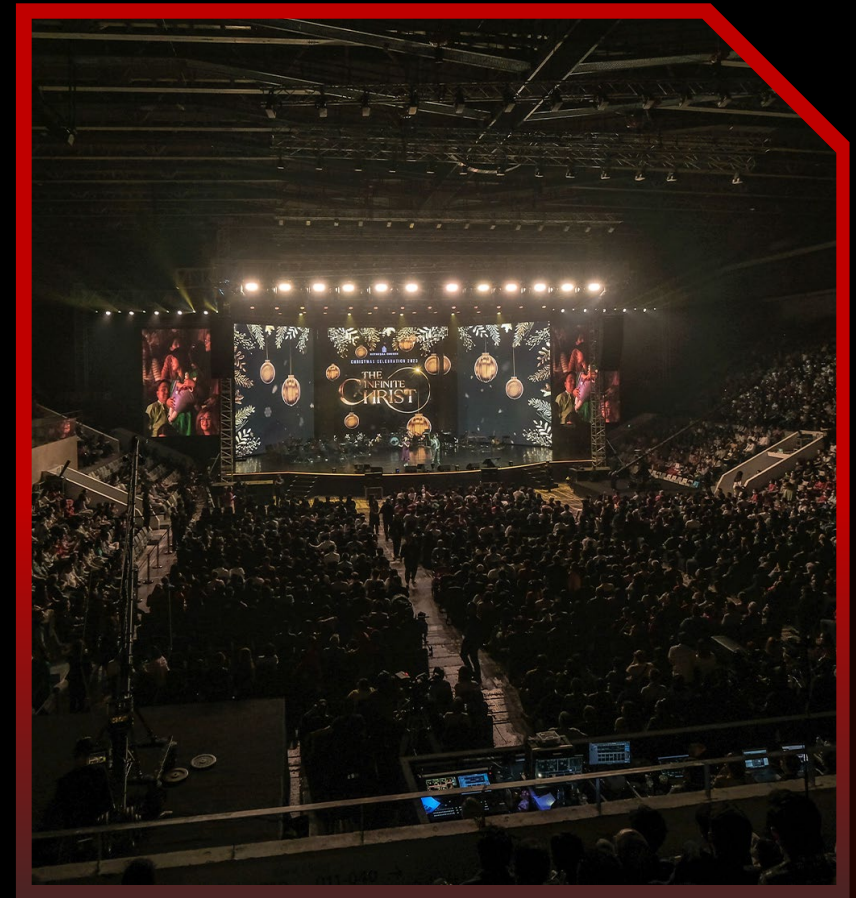

Our Existence

Truly, there are many companies in the world of entertainment industry with the same core business as ours, with various character and business policies.

But it's not a stumbling block for us, but instead it can create a mutually beneficial working relationship. It can be built a great networking for us

In addition, our presence in this industry is a response to the high demand in the entertainment industry, so there is a significant increase in competitiveness.

We're here to propose the most suitable solutions based on each client's needs of production facilities

The Personnel's

Led by experienced personalities, the technical implementation of production work in an event, both entertainment and sporting events, is not a significant obstacle.

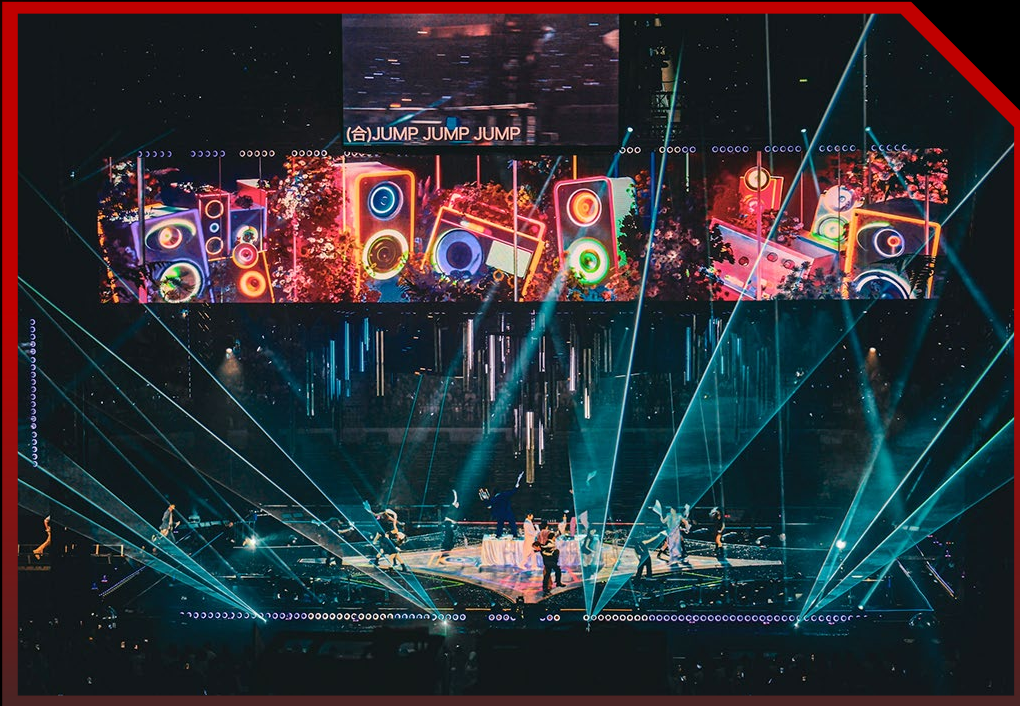

In addition, the production work is a collective work that is carried out every day in the house of Indonesia Produksi, in order to fulfill the creative ideas of each client.
